Festivals of pakistan short note

The festival is a beautiful celebration in which a nation adheres to its values and culture. We celebrate various festivals to promote our culture by sharing and editing the causes of events that take place. We celebrate many festivals in Pakistan. However, if we look at the past, we have fewer events than we have today. Since globalization has taken place, we have adopted many festivals from the West. If we talk about the religion on which this country was founded, it is Islam. According to our religion, there are only two beautiful festivals that are obligatory, Eid-ul-Fitr, and Eid-ul-Adha. However, there are different sects of religion that follow their ancestors and many other festivals. Here we will list some of the living traditional festivals of Pakistan that make us happy and make us social during this time of year. Eid-ul-Adha The festival teaches us to sacrifice for the sake of Allah. The festival is associated with sacred Islamic history. This month increases our love for God by reminding us of why we were sent into this world, that is, to point out the feelings of worship and sacrifice. Shab-e-Baraat This festival is celebrated by almost all the concerned sectors of Pakistan but in different ways. Muslim sectors believe that on this auspicious night, the past deeds of Muslims are taken into account and the fate of next year is decided. Many people do fireworks, share sweets with each other, and pray for the night. perfect24u.com Eid al-Fitr This beautiful festival is being celebrated on the first Shawwal after the Islamic husband Ramadan. After the month of Ramadan, people celebrate this Eid by preparing delicious food. This Eid brings a lot of colors and everyone makes new clothes for this Eid. Muslims not only in Pakistan but all over the world celebrate this festival with joy and happiness. This festival teaches us to show patience and patience and love to our other Muslim brothers and sisters. Eid Milad-un-Nabi The festival is also celebrated in some religious circles, however, others have prayed very fast in the program. Milad is celebrated on a large scale in many places.

According to some sources, the festival is celebrated because many Muslims believe that the 12th of Rabi al-Awwal is the birthday of Holy Prophets (P.B.U.H), however, this has not been confirmed by reliable sources. Shab e Miraj (Night of Ascension) This is considered to be another blessed night when the Holy Prophet (SAW) used to travel to the heavens to meet Allah, the Lord of Glory. Angel Gabriel accompanied him. And there were many promises that were made in this blessed night. If we look at Islamic history, it is full of amazing stories that make us strong Muslims if we follow their true meaning. There is more information that you can get from Research Paper Writing Service in Pakistan. Anyone can ask them to write a paper on Islamic history or any other festival they want. Festivals are long overdue and every country should promote them to educate the younger generation in a healthy way.
